Beyond Time Tracking:

Digital Time Management as a Driver of Productivity

Specializing in banking and consumer law, the Madrid-based law firm Gavin & Linares offers extensive experience representing consumers in disputes with financial institutions and insurance companies. A dedicated team of 18 experts works flexibly, dividing their time between the office, court hearings and client meetings. To support this dynamic setup, the firm required a solution for simple, flexible, and fully compliant working time tracking.

SOLUTION: innovaphone Working - streamlined, legally compliant and remote-friendly time tracking

KEY BENEFITS:
- Flexible tracking of working times
- Full transparency regarding personal working hours
- Intuitive user experience
- Full compliance with legal requirements

Implementing innovaphone Working solved the need for an integrated, user-friendly electronic time tracking system. Integration into the innovaphone myApps ecosystem transformed a legal obligation into a powerful tool. The new system simplifies daily management, improves internal organization and optimizes administrative processes.

Previously, Gavin & Linares managed working hours and vacation requests through internal procedures that required significant administrative effort. Today, the entire workforce uses innovaphone Working for flexible, location-independent time tracking. Employees log hours from the office, from home or on the go via smartphone and tablet. Mobile logging proves especially valuable for lawyers spending part of their workday directly at court.

For Loleta Linares, co-founder of the company, "the seamless integration into the existing system landscape stood out as a decisive factor for innovaphone Working. The application delivers full transparency to all employees over their working hours and vacation days. Thanks to the intuitive interface, compliance with legal requirements becomes an effortless part of the daily routine."
